MRS. DREIER WEDDED AGAIN

Becomes the Bride of Young Henry Clark Late Saturday Night.

An unexpected marriage was consummated last Saturday night when Mrs. Emma Dreier was wedded to Henry Clark, son of Charley Clark. The issuance of the license and the news of the approaching nuptials were kept secret by the prospective bride and groom and the story did not leak out until after the ceremony had been completed at St. Augustine's chapel, Waikiki, by Rev. Father Valentin.

Mrs. Dreier is fifty-two years of age and young Clark is but twenty-four. The bride is possessed of a snug fortune as her right in the estate of the late August Dreier, while the groom is a young singer well known in local musical circles.

In relation to this wedding, the morning paper states that Geo. I. Brown acted as best man. Mr. Brown called at the Bulletin office this morning and flatly contradicted that part of it. He states that he was not best man, in fact did not know of the wedding until the next day.

FLORAL PARADE COMMITTEES

Director Wall Appoints Those To Help Him Make Parade Best Ever.

If it is possible the Floral Parade of 1911 will eclipse any previous attempt in that line and it seems as if such will come to pass. The personnel of the committees that have been selected to carry on the work is certainly a guarantee of success.

General Director Wall has made his selections and appointed those he thinks most fitted to the different branches of the work. A new committee has been added to those that formerly carried on the work and this is the Suggestion Committee. Mr. Wall thinks that this committee will be the making pin of them all and it would seem that he is right. This committee will get busy on the expense end of the parade and get a line on the probable cost of the whole affair and from that the rest of the committees will branch off in their different detail with some base to work on.

Mrs. E. D. Tenney has been placed at the head of the Suggestion Committee and she will be assisted by Mrs. Victor Houston, wife of Lieut. Comdr. Houston, U. S. N., and Mrs. Arthur F. Wall.

Miss Rose Davidson has promised to again take charge of the Island princesses division, she having had charge last celebration. She will be assisted by the Misses Lucy and Kathleen Ward and Mrs. Eben Low.

The automobile committee will be headed by Fred C. Smith as chairman, and he will be assisted by Mrs. Charles B. Cooper, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Mrs. Maudie Phillips, Will McNerny, Sherwood Lowrey and Frank Armstrong.

INCURABLE CASE

(PATIENT 6 YEARS OLD)

Authorities declare kidney disease incurable after the sixth month. This was the situation up to the working out of the new emollient treatment—the only thing known that dares claim in print to cure chronic kidney disease.

Every case presented has been declared incurable by physicians and in some cases four to six have joined in the fatal diagnosis.

Case of the little six year old son of A. C. Dean, No. 1726 9th Avenue, Oakland, Cal. Last symptoms of chronic kidney disease. The family physicians told the distracted father that death was inevitable. At that late moment he heard about the emollient treatment. This was a very slow case due to serious complications. It took nearly a year to restore the lad. He is now going to school.

Richard Leek, of Calvert & Leek of Ogden, Utah, reports the recovery of his 17 year old son whom the doctors had also given up. He also is now going to school.

Fulton's Renal Compound, the first successful treatment for chronic kidney disease can only be had in your city or our authorized agents, Honolulu Drug Co., Fort street.

We desire to hear from and advise with every case not yielding.

FIGHT FOR LIFE IN ANGRY SEA

Boats Smashed and Seven Men Thrown Into Shark-Infested Water.

A near tragedy of the waves occurred yesterday afternoon a short distance west of Quarantine Island and just inside of the reef. It was a fight for life for over two hours, and at the end of that time seven men, with the life nearly beaten out of them by the pounding of the heavy surf, were rescued.

A party, consisting of Charles Royal and his wife and baby, Manager Lawson of the Art Theater, Eddie Olds, Tommy Lane, Roy Gilman, Jim Evans and Afong, started out with guns and two well-filled boxes of lunch for a picnic down the beach. Two boats were engaged for the trip, but at the last moment Mrs. Royal, with the baby, decided that she would rather walk along the beach than go in the boat. Had she elected to be of the boating party, it is more than probable that this near tragedy would have been a tragedy in fact.

The boat party went along smoothly for a while, till the men reached a point about a half mile to the west of Quarantine Island, where a sudden squall came up that gave those at the oars all they could do to keep the boats right side up, and while in this fight against the elements a blind breaker struck them and capsized both boats. The force of the water was so great that it is reported that the end of one of the boats was completely smashed.

From then on the seven men who were occupants of the boats made a desperate struggle for their lives. The surf increased in wickedness as every roller came in. What added to the horror of the situation was the fact that they had seen the fins of a number of sharks cutting the water a short time previous to the capsizing of the boats.

Eddie Olds, who is reported to be a good swimmer, at once struck out for the shore, but before he reached there he was taken with a cramp, and a Hawaiian, who was on the beach at the time, rushed into the surf a distance of sixty or eighty feet and dragged the man to shore. It is certain that he would have drowned had not the rescuer been at hand.

There was only one in the party who could not swim, and that was Roy Gilman, and it took the most desperate efforts of his companions

That Little Hacking Cough

Hard coughs are bad enough, to be sure. But it's often the little, hacking, tickling, persistent cough that means the most, especially when there is a history of weak lungs in the family. What should be done? Ask your doctor. He knows. Ask him about the formula on the label of every bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask him if this medicine has his full approval for throat and lung troubles. Then do as he says.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

To keep him on the surface. Many times he was washed away from the overturned boats, but was brought back each time.

On one of the occasions, when a desperate stand was being taken against an unusually ugly breaker, Charles Royal was thrown head first from the bottom of one of the boats and came up underneath. He got out of this plight by diving and coming up again on the outside and getting a firm hold of the craft.

All of this time Mrs. Royal was standing on the beach watching the struggles of the men and unable to help them in any manner.

Just where the accident happened there is an offshore current, and by this means the boats were being carried further from land every moment. One small sailboat attempted to get out to where they were, but could not make it and had to turn back.

They were at last rescued by a canoe, manned by some strong Hawaiians, who had to fight every inch of the way to the smashed boats.

Charles Royal says of the experience: "We had a mighty hard time of it for two hours, and I'm thankful that my wife and baby were ashore, for if I did not think that we could have saved them in that sea."

Royal was around this morning feeling little the worse for the struggle, except that he is feeling pretty sore.

The Master Stroke in Car Designing

The success of the Overland—the car which commands the largest sale in the world—is solely due to a masterpiece of mechanism.

The Overland was designed after time had proved what devices were best—and what mode of construction—in every part of a car.

But a new engine was made—an engine more simple, more trouble-proof, more automatic than any before devised. And that faithful engine has done more than all else to bring Overland cars to the top.

The number of parts in the car were immensely reduced. One part now used in the Overland alone takes the place of 47.

Then the pedal control was devised. To go backward or forward, fast or slow, one simply pushes pedals. The hands have nothing to do but steer.

As a result, a child can master the car in ten minutes. And this car almost cares for itself.

25 h.p.—$1095

The Overland is made by the latest automatic machinery—just like the finest watches. Thus we get exactness to the ten thousandth part of an inch. And the cost is immensely reduced under old methods.

Our multiplied production—now 140 cars daily—has cut our making cost 20 per cent. within the past year alone. Thus the Overland gives a great deal more than any other car for the money.

The 25-horsepower Overland, with a 102-inch wheel base, sells for $1095. It is the first real automobile ever made at that price.

A 40-horsepower Overland, with 112-inch wheel base, sells for $1250. And the $1500 Overland has many advantages over cars costing twice the price.

No smaller maker will attempt to give what these cars give for the money.

The Popular Car

The Overland—one of the newest creations—has come to outsell the oldest cars on the market. The demand is now growing faster than ever before. It is five times as large as last Spring.

You should know the car which has won such a success. Its simplicity, its economy, its freedom from trouble will appeal to you as to others.
